Minister of Pensions at St. Dunstan's

MAJOR THE RT. HON. G. C. TRYON, M.P., the Minister of Pensions, who has over a long period of years done so much good work in connection with the pensions of Servicemen, paid an official visit to the Headquarters of St. Dunstan's on Tuesday, 4th July. He was accompanied by the Hon. Mrs. Tryon. They were received by Lady (Arthur) Pearson, our President, and Captain Fraser, and Major Tryon then proceeded thoroughly to inspect the building. He went through all its departments and in the Lounge was introduced to a number of our blinded men. At the telephone switchboard in a chat with our war-blinded telephonist, he showed great interest in the way this work is carried out.

In the collecting department, Major Tryon was shown the records of the scores of thousands of subscribers and helpers of St. Dunstan's, and in the Welfare Department the docketts and files relating to the men and their families. Major Tryon was asked to pick out at random the papers of any of the blinded soldiers and see how their records were kept, how St. Dunstan's had helped them, and so on. The Minister said that his visit had been of real interest and a pleasure to him.

After this visit, Captain and Mrs. Ian Fraser gave a reception at their private house to the Minister and a number of guests who were associated, directly or indirectly, with the work of St. Dunstan's. These included Lord Blanesburgh, Chairman of the Advisory Committee on the Welfare of the Blind, who, at Captain Fraser's request, had taken the Blind Voters Bill through its stages in the House of Lords, Lord Sanderson, the blind peer, and Lady Sanderson, and a number of Members of Parliament and officials who put their names down on the Bill in the House of Commons and helped to carry it through, Sir Ian Macpherson, K.C., M.P. (late Minister of Pensions), Major-General Sir Frederick Maurice (President of the British Legion), and Colonel John Brown (Chairman of the British Legion), Sir Arnold Lawson and Major Arthur W. Ormond (St. Dunstan's oculists), Mr. Walter G. Howarth (the nose, throat and ear specialist), and a number of other medical men who have done such valuable voluntary service for St. Dunstan's. Sir Neville Pearson (Hon. Treasurer of St. Dunstan's), Colonel Eric Ball (Chairman of the Brighton Home Committee), and other members of the Executive Council were also present, as well as some of the subscribers and voluntary organisers and members of the voluntary staff who help at the camps, sports meetings, etc.

Major Tryon, as Member for Brighton, and Minister of Pensions, has always taken a very keen interest in the work of St. Dunstan's, and it gave great pleasure to a large number of people who had helped St. Dunstan's in various ways to have the opportunity of meeting him.

Co-operation between St. Dunstaners

THE suggestion has reached us that where two St. Dunstaners are neighbours and one is making an article of a kind which the other would like to purchase, it would be a pity for the prospective purchaser, in order to reap the benefit of the 25 per cent discount allowed to St. Dunstaners purchasing goods from St. Dunstan's, to have to order the article direct from St. Dunstan's instead of from the individual St. Dunstaner who happened to live, so to speak, just round the corner. With a view to facilitating friendly co-operation between neighbouring St. Dunstaners, it has been decided that, in future, if a St. Dunstaner wishes to purchase an article made by another local St. Dunstaner and writes to us about it, we will consider the matter, and if we approve the transaction, we will pay the discount.

St. Dunstaner in Greenwich Pageant

WE were given some tickets for our men for the recent Greenwich Naval Pageant, and these were distributed to St. Dunstaners living within a reasonable distance of Greenwich.

As a result Mr. Askew has received the following interesting letter from C. E. Bolton, of Bexley Heath.

15th June, 1933.

Dear Mr. Askew,

Many thanks for your letter received this morning with the tickets for the pageant which I shall be pleased to accept. You will no doubt be surprised and also pleased to hear that I am one of the great number of performers taking part in this splendid pageant. I belong to the Woolwich Branch of the Old Contemptibles' Association, and we are finding a good number of the performers. I am playing the part of a Naval pensioner. The tickets will be used by my wife and a friend. No doubt Captain Fraser will be pleased to know that one of his boys is taking part in this great Pageant. Thanking you again for your letter and tickets.—Yours sincerely,
C. E. BOLTON.

A Tandem Wanted

Will anyone with a tandem for sale send particulars to A. M. Nichols at Headquarters.

Brighton News

THE most acceptable service springs from affection, and it was surely affection for old associates and memories which prompted the Rev. Harold Gibbs to accept our invitation to take the service in our Chapel on 25th June.

Mr. Gibbs was blinded while serving on the Western Front in the 4th Dragoon Guards and came to St. Dunstan's in September, 1915. After a short time he courageously returned to carry on his work in his old parish of Sherbourne in Warwick, where we are sure his cheery character is a source of inspiration to his parishioners.

Mr. Gibbs, in his address, took for his text: "Lift up thine eyes to the hills," and surely none could speak with greater authority than he, as he must have had the trials and difficulties to overcome so well understood by us all. His message of encouragement and hope was appreciated and enjoyed by all who were privileged to hear him.

Brighton 'Busmen and St. Dunstan's

THIRTEEN years ago a Brighton 'bus driver, Mr. M. Richards, affectionately known as "Mark" to the men of St. Dunstan's, conceived the idea of giving them an outing, to be financed and organised by the employees of Tilling's and Southdown 'Bus Companies. A man of action rather than of words, he promptly got together a committee of his colleagues and commenced raising the necessary funds to give the war-blinded men resident in Brighton and district, augmented by their comrades in the St. Dunstan's Hostel at Kemp Town, a real treat. Two motor coaches were sufficient then, but for the annual event which took place on Wednesday, 5th July, five motor coaches were necessary to convey the 150 of we blinded men and the 'bus employees who were able to get the day off to guide and shepherd us.

These outings have always been an outstanding success and Wednesday's event was no exception to the rule. We started off from St. Dunstan's about 9 a.m.

and after disembarking at the Aquarium to be photographed on the steps, we were soon on our way to Midhurst, picking up other of our St. Dunstan's men who reside in Southwick, Portslade, Lancing and Worthing. Riding through the beautiful Sussex country, appreciated by us even though we cannot see, if only for the sweet cool breezes and heaven-sent aromas of new mown hay, green pastures and flowers, in the comfortable motor coaches of the Southdown Motor Services, we did not stop until the eagerly-looked-forward-to half-way halt was reached, namely Crocker Hill, where mine host, Mr. Arnell, of the Winterton Arms, and Mr. Booker, a prominent local gentleman, and a large number of helpers were waiting to administer to our material needs in the shape of light refreshments of both solid and liquid variety. While these were being served in the garden, Tilling's band, which had accompanied us, played selections. Good spirits had prevailed from the word "Go," but if it was possible, even livelier spirits ruled after our re-embarkation for Midhurst. At 1.15 we arrived on the outskirts of our objective, to use an army term, where we formed fours, and with the band at our head and cheered by the Grammar School boys, we marched into the town. All Midhurst turns out on these occasions. This was our fifth visit and we were given the usual hearty reception. At the Drill Hall a splendid meal had been prepared and we did full justice to the goodly repast. Short speeches were made by the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Porte, and Mr. Mark Richards, who briefly expressed their pleasure at being able to continue the good work they and their committee, Messrs. L. Benstead, W. Clarke, C. Northby and J. Short, had commenced. Reference was made to the wonderful 83-year-old gentleman, Mr. Phillips, who had always done so much in the way of raising funds, and was with us that day. Appreciative remarks were also made regarding Captain Masters, of the Midhurst branch of the British Legion, for his organisation work on our behalf. Dinner over, we again got into marching order, this time proceeding to Cowdray Park. Arriving there, the band took up their position and generously gave us selections interspersed with dance tunes, to give us the opportunity of dancing with the village belles who were kind enough to come along to help make our afternoon a pleasant one. Five o'clock saw us back at the Drill Hall for tea, and at six o'clock we left Midhurst with the cheers of the local populace ringing in our ears. This was by no means the end of our day's enjoyment, for on our way back another halt was made where mine host of the Winterton Arms again did the honours. In his country garden we smoked, laughed and listened to the grand open air concert provided by the band, the Southdown Glee Singers, one or two of our own men, and last but not least, the celebrated violinist, Mr. Albert Sammons, who had come specially from London at the request of Mr. Booker to give us a musical treat. At the close we lifted our glasses and in song told those who were responsible for this great day that they were "Jolly Good Fellows." Bidding them adieu we started for home, where we arrived tired but happy, and so came the end of a perfect day.

Jolly good luck to the Tilling's and Southdown 'busmen!!

A. C. BRIGNALL.

A Distinguished Visitor

THE strong appeal which St. Dunstan's holds upon the imagination was once again demonstrated on Sunday, 9th July, when Lieut.-Gen. Sir A. Hunter-Weston, K.C.B., D.S.O., M.P., although finding himself with a full programme of engagements, primarily on account of the inspection of the District St. John's Ambulance Brigade, took the opportunity to pay us a visit at the Annexe. All our men were drawn up on the lawn, forming three sides of a square. The General, who was accompanied by Lady Hunter-Weston, the Mayor of Brighton, and representatives of St. John's Ambulance Brigade, in a short and spirited address remarked that there was a bond existing between ex-Servicemen which gave a feeling somewhere in the region of the solar plexus which, though he could not fully describe it, would, he was sure, be understood by all of those who had served in the trenches. He further remarked that St. Dunstan's had the affection and admiration of Servicemen all over the Empire. At the conclusion of his talk he stood to attention and saluted us in true military style.

D. McLaughlin, thanking the General on behalf of St. Dunstan's, said that whatever was accomplished was only made possible by the interest taken by men like the General and the British public as a whole. As the General left to fulfil his other engagements he remarked, "God bless you all."

Sports Club

THE next three meetings of the Club will be held on 28th July, 18th August, and 6th October, and sports practices on the intermediate Fridays, except on the second Friday of the month, when there will be swimming. Members are asked to be at the Annexe Netting Room at 5.15 p.m. on these dates.

"In Memory"

SAPPER GEORGE HENRY PHILLIPS
(Royal Engineers)

It is with deep regret that we record the death of G. H. Phillips, of Bolton. He was wounded in France in 1917, and the same year came to St. Dunstan's for training in boot-repairing and mat-making. His health, however, was very indifferent, and, in due course, caused him to give up both his occupations. In 1930, it was very obvious that he was not improving, and during the past six months he was practically an invalid, being forced to spend a good part of his time in hospital. In spite of all the care and attention he received from specialists, doctors, and in his own home, he grew worse, and passed away on the 17th May.

The funeral took place a few days later, and St. Dunstan's was represented by Mr. F. Tait. A wreath was sent by Captain Fraser and his fellow comrades of St. Dunstan's. Phillips leaves a widow and three children, to whom we offer our sincere sympathy.

SAPPER FREDERICK STEWARD
(Royal Engineers)

We very much regret to announce the death of F. Steward, of Poplar. Owing to ill-health, Steward was unable to come to St. Dunstan's for training of any sort. He was visited by us in his own home, and always appeared very cheerful and bright, but, unfortunately, his health did not improve. At the end of last month he was taken very seriously ill and admitted to hospital where he died on the 25th May.

The funeral took place on the 29th May at Woodgrange Cemetery, and was attended by his widow and sons, and various friends. There were many beautiful wreaths, including one from Captain Fraser and his comrades at St. Dunstan's.

We offer our sincere sympathy to his widow and two boys.

After-Care Reunions

TRURO

IT was exceedingly lucky for the Truro Meeting that Captain Fraser was opening a British Legion Fête in Truro on Friday, 16th June. Once more we had the use of the British Legion Headquarters and with Captain and Mrs. Fraser, Major Watson Smythe and Mr. Percy Barton of the British Legion with us, lunch was both cheerful and interesting.

Captain Fraser's speech was a great pleasure and G. Nancarrow and R. A. Clarke voiced the feelings of all present in thanking Captain Fraser for explaining so clearly recent changes at St. Dunstan's, and the working of St. Dunstan's and the British Legion as regards Poppy Day, etc.

Just as Captain Fraser was leaving we had a most welcome surprise—the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Thomson Brown, who were on their annual holiday near by and had looked in to see us. Altogether it was a most enjoyable meeting. The prize cake was won by R. A. Clarke and the prize parcel by Mrs. Head.

EDINBURGH AND COLCHESTER.

THE first week in July brought these two further opportunities for St. Dunstaners to revive memories of the "old days" and to give one another news of the past year. There were no "silent Scots" at Edinburgh on 4th July. Hall and waiting room were soon full of a crowd of men and their wives who evidently had many jokes to crack.

The weather was "warm to very warm," and this continued to embrace the Colchester gathering two days later, when Mr. J. Thomson Brown was present to meet the numerous poultry farmers of the district.

At each meeting cordial messages were sent to Captain and Mrs. Fraser, and many references were made to the services rendered by St. Dunstan's to individual men and their families.

Every moment was fully occupied with cheery greetings, speeches, entertainment, and dancing, and we all left looking forward to as good a time next year.

Marsham Camp

MISS TALBOT'S ninth camp was held this year in the beautiful grounds of Bolwick Hall, Marsham, Norfolk, by the kind invitation of Mr. W. L. Buxton and Miss Amy Buxton. From the first day, 2nd June, it was favoured with glorious sunshine. Thanks to the members of Marsham British Legion, everything was ready for the campers when they arrived.

Saturday morning was a quiet "settling-in" morning, but there were not to be many during the week as the following programme shows. Invitations to entertain our men came from every source in North Norfolk, while the actual time spent in the camp itself went all too quickly with such favourite occupations as bridge, and bathing in the lake in the grounds. On Saturday afternoon there was a visit to Cromer for a picnic lunch, sea-bathing, and games on the beach, with a dance at Marsham Village Hall in the evening. On Sunday, headed by the Salvation Army Band, the campers attended church parade with the Aylsham and Marsham branches of the British Legion. Camp sports were the order of the day on Monday morning; in the afternoon a visit was paid to Mr. T. Cook, M.P. for North Norfolk, and Mrs. Cook, at Guist, with a dance at Marsham in the evening. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Cook returned the visit and the day again wound up with a dance. On Wednesday the campers were entertained to tea by Sir Edward Preston at Beeston, with a domino drive in camp during the evening. Another visit to Cromer was paid on Thursday, this time as the guests at tea of Mr. Frank Barclay. A dance at Marsham followed in the evening. On Friday the campers were entertained by Colonel Charles at his house at Wroxham, while a final dance at Marsham in the evening brought to a close one of the happiest camping holidays in the history of St. Dunstan's.

Our warmest thanks are due to our host and hostess, the organisers, and the many friends who did so much to make this year's camp such a success.

SPORTS CLUB NOTES

Annual Sports Day

THE above event, like many other outdoor shows arranged for Saturday, 24th June, suffered from the weather. Everything had been prepared, the ground was gay with flags and bunting, and all that was needed was a fine day, but old Jupiter Pluvius was not in a happy mood. However, it takes more than that to put St. Dunstaners out of their stride. When it was found impossible to carry out the full programme, it was decided to hold the shield events only, and at Captain Fraser's suggestion, to carry on with games, etc., inside Headquarters. With the ever-ready assistance of Mrs. Fraser, V.A.D.'s, Judges, Officials and many members of the staff, the various offices resembled a casino, with cards and domino games in progress. The lounge was given over to the kiddies for games.

The catering, which originally had been arranged on the lawn, had to be managed inside, but with the spirit that was embodied in St. Dunstan's by Sir Arthur Pearson (I am going to be brave and say we have never been let down), everyone pulled his weight and helped to get over the situation. The various teams, with a few staunch supporters, journeyed out in the pouring rain to compete for the shield events, which London won with ten points, Manchester and Birmingham dead heating for second and third places.

There were lucky draws for prizes, which Lady (Arthur) Pearson came later to present. The array of prizes is always a sight that must be seen to be fully appreciated, and our warmest thanks are extended to all the donors.

Captain Fraser in his speech thanked everyone who had assisted, and I agreed with him when he said that the elders had been grand in the way in which they had helped during the afternoon. Lady Pearson said that it always gave her the greatest pleasure to come into personal contact with all St. Dunstaners at all times. A vote of thanks was passed to her Ladyship, Captain Fraser, the Executive Council and the staff, and so with three hearty cheers ended the 1933 sports day.

The Annual Regatta

THE Annual Regatta took place at Putney this year on Wednesday, 12th July, and was a great success. By contrast with Sports Day, the weather, in the middle of an uncertain spell, was most favourable and a large crowd of spectators watched the interesting series of rowing events. Outside the team events, for which there were entries from London, Brighton, Birmingham and Manchester, the chief interest of the Regatta was a four-oared race between a crew of our men and an Old Blues Four, got together by Dr. M. Donaldson, who rowed No. 4 in the winning Cambridge crew of 1906. The remainder of the crew consisted of Sir Harold Gillies, C.B.E., F.R.C.S. (Cambridge, 1904), Dr. J. S. Burn, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. (Cambridge, 1907), and Dr. E. N. Showell-Rogers, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. (Cambridge), and the cox was Dr. R. Knox, who was the "baby" of the crew since he was in the Oxford boat as recently as 1925. The University crew, although they put up a grand show, were unable to hold our crew, who went ahead to win by two lengths. The Inter-Club races were well-contested and the pair-oars were won by Manchester and the double-sculls by London. The full results are appended.

THE DINNER

The Dinner took place in the evening at the Connaught Rooms and was also a great success. There was a very jovial company, which included the Old Blues crew and Mr. Geo. Johnson, who has always been so helpful to our men. Captain Fraser presided and Sir Harold Gillies presented the prizes, which had been generously given by our President, Lady (Arthur) Pearson, D.B.E., Mr. F. G. Long, Captain Ian Fraser, and Dr. E. Chittenden Bridges. During the course of the evening a presentation was made to Mr. Kessell. Sir Neville Pearson proposed the toast of the Old Blues, to which Dr. Donaldson responded, and Colonel Ball proposed the toast of the helpers. Captain Williams also made a speech.

As in previous years there will be no issue of the REVIEW for August.
