St. Dunstan's Dance Band and The Prince

IT will interest our readers to know that their own band, the St. Dunstan's Dance Orchestra, has been invited by the Prince of Wales to play at a Staff Christmas Party at York House on Wednesday, 20th December. This is only another proof of the warm interest that the Prince of Wales always shows in his ex-servicemen.

On the following Saturday, St. Dunstaners will have an opportunity of listening to the band, for it is to be broadcast. It will play for five minutes somewhere between 7.30—8 on Saturday, 23rd December, in the programme feature, "In Town To-Night," and will be "put on the air" by Mr. Henry Hall, who has very kindly attended a number of rehearsals by the orchestra.

Incidentally, St. Dunstaners will have an opportunity of hearing the voice of their Chairman, Captain Fraser, who will speak for about one minute in introducing the band.

All who can should tune in to the National Programme for this interesting and unusual item of their own.

A Message from Brighton

MY DEAR BOYS,

A Merry Christmas and very Happy New Year to you, your wives and families, and in spirit a warm shake of the hand to each one. May 1934 bring you all the best of Good Luck.

God bless you. Many thoughts.

From your affectionate old friend,

St. Dunstan's Annexe,
Brighton.
Christmas, 1933.

ADELINE THELLUSSON.

Armistice Day, 1933

AT the Armistice Day Parade at the Cenotaph, twelve St. Dunstaners, headed by Captain Ian Fraser, marched in the first of the eight columns of representatives of ex-Service organizations. Captain Fraser, on behalf of St. Dunstan's, placed a wreath during the ceremony.

After the parade was dismissed at Wellington Barracks, the party was entertained for a few minutes in the Sergeants' Mess of the Scots Guards and, as usual, many old friendships were renewed. Men who have been on this parade will readily understand what that means.

British Legion Remembrance Festival

A REPRESENTATIVE party attended the Festival at the Royal Albert Hall on the evening of 11th November. This is always a wonderful event and, we are sure, leaves a lasting impression on everyone present. The utmost admiration and congratulation is due to the organizers.

Brief Notes

A contingent of St. Dunstaners took part in the Manchester commemoration of Armistice Day in Albert Square.

J. Sheehy, of Dover, sold crosses at the Dover Field of Remembrance, and in addition to placing a wreath on the War Memorial on behalf of the British Legion, also placed a wreath on behalf of Major and Lady Violet Astor. His escort on the first occasion was Sergt. W. B. Traynor, V.C.

At the Service in Belfast, wreaths were placed on the Cenotaph by A. Gribben and H. J. Glendennan.

Ypres Day

WE have received a very nice letter from Captain De Trafford, Secretary of the Ypres League, thanking the St. Dunstan's party for their attendance at the annual Service and Cenotaph Parade. The Rev. "Tubby" Clayton came round on the parade ground at Horse Guards and had a wee chat with each St. Dunstaner. His presence takes those of us who served in the Ypres sector back to the days of Poperinghe and Talbot House.

On the evening previous to this parade the boys were entertained at a smoking concert held at the Caxton Hall under the auspices of the League, at which some very distinguished diplomats including the French, Belgian and American Ambassadors were present.

Presentation to Mr. N. Macauley

IT will interest the many friends of Mr. Norman Macauley, our Irish representative, to learn that the Irish St. Dunstaners have presented him with a 5 valve G.E.C. Console Wireless Set as a token of their esteem and appreciation.

The Irish men are so widely scattered over the country that it was not possible to meet for a formal presentation, so the men decided to ask St. Dunstan's good friend, Lady Turner, J.P., of Belfast, to present their gift privately to Mr. Macauley, at Annandale House, Belfast.

In making the presentation, Lady Turner spoke of the admiration she felt for the wonderful way in which the Irish St. Dunstaners had overcome their disabilities and referred to their often expressed appreciation to her of Mr. Macauley's services to them.

Memorial Service to Sir Arthur Pearson

THE annual Memorial Service to the late Sir Arthur Pearson, Bart., Founder of St. Dunstan's, was held on the anniversary of his death, Saturday, 9th December, at St. George's Church, Kemp Town, Brighton. It was conducted by the Rev. H. A. Eyton Jones. Sir Neville Pearson, Bart., read the lesson, and Sir Arnold Lawson, K.B.E., F.R.C.S., delivered an address. Lady (Arthur) Pearson, Captain and Mrs. Fraser, and Mr. W. G. Askew were also present, as was a large contingent of St. Dunstaners from Brighton and the neighbourhood. The hymns sung were "Lead, Kindly Light," "Abide with Me," and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

In his address Sir Arnold Lawson said no institution had ever stirred the sympathy and fired the imagination like St. Dunstan's. There were many reasons for that, but chief among them was its marvellous atmosphere, which made it a home of cheer and brightness and not of sadness and gloom.

That was directly due to the personal example and influence of Sir Arthur Pearson. When, in his own case it was borne in upon him that blindness was inevitable, he refused to be crushed by the blow but trained himself to believe and know that blindness was not a devastating affliction, but a handicap that could be overcome to a great extent. He picked up the broken threads of his life, and found the means to tie them together again and to see light in darkness.

And then came his great vision—the vision which led him to devote his marvellous powers of organization to helping those who had been stricken like himself. He was doing fine work when the war came, and when St. Dunstan's was established he went to live there and came into personal contact with the men, exercising an influence which no sighted man could have done. His fine example was infectious. It spread throughout every hut of St. Dunstan's. Cheery efficiency was the order of the day, and inspired everyone who worked there.

It was not all so easy to "the Chief"; it was terribly difficult at times, but there were very few except intimates who knew anything about those difficulties. To the outside world he was always the same cheery, alert, dominating personality, preaching—always preaching—the gospel of St. Dunstan's, the gospel of victory over blindness, the gospel of light in darkness. And what a marvellous success he had!

Everybody, as the tale of St. Dunstan's spread far and wide, wanted to know more about it, and those who came to see went away marvelling at that splendid spirit which could make the blind man sing at his work. That was Sir Arthur Pearson's greatest achievement, and he put a higher value on that part of his work than on any other.

"I often wonder," continued Sir Arnold, "if St. Dunstan's would have been the same place, or if there would have been a St. Dunstan's if Sir Arthur Pearson had not been blind. I don't think, at any rate, it would have been the St. Dunstan's we know and love so well. It is true in this world that out of evil good can come, and certainly Sir Arthur Pearson's blindness brought not only a great boon to the blinded soldiers of our country, but it practically revolutionized the previous conception of the re-education of the blind.

"And is it not true that suffering can itself be infinitely ennobling? I believe it was in Sir Arthur Pearson's case. May we thank God for the memory of Sir Arthur Pearson! His name will always stand in the annals of the British Empire as a great philanthropist who did more to bring happiness to the desolate and peace of mind to the despairing than any man of his generation."

Births

BOSWELL.—To the wife of E. Boswell, of Gainsborough, on the 28th November, a daughter.

CULSHAW.—To the wife of J. Culshaw, on the 26th October, a son.

FARMERY.—To the wife of H. Farmery, of Portsmouth, on the 23rd November, a son.

HOLLINRAKE.—To the wife of J. Hollinrake, of Hove, on the 26th November, a daughter.

A Night of Cheers at Brighton

THIS was the busmen's way of entertaining blinded ex-Servicemen from St. Dunstan's Annexe, and many others living in and around Brighton, on 24th November.

The scene of the wonderful night was laid in the Aquarium Concert Hall, where a splendid dinner was given by the busmen of Messrs. Tilling and Southdown Companies, through the organizing genius of Mr. Mark Richards and his Committee. This, together with the beer and cigarettes thoughtfully provided, was thoroughly enjoyed by all of us, who, by the way, have never forgotten the habit (or is it a gift?) of opening our mouths whenever we bend our elbows.

After the first toast of the evening—The King—the Chairman said how pleased they were to have the men of St. Dunstan's with them again, and sincerely hoped they would be able to do something similar each year. Mr. Cannon then called on Mr. Swain for a speech. Mr. Swain, on rising, was greeted by a volley of cheers which resounded throughout the building. The singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" has never been sung more sincerely. A Scotsman on my left remarked that if the Prince of Wales had heard this ovation, even he would have been envious. Space will not permit me to give Mr. Swain's speech in full but his reference to the men, their work, and their wives, was well appreciated. Mr. Swain apologized for the absence of Capt. Ian Fraser and the Commandant Matron of Brighton and in conclusion, sincerely thanked Mr. Mark Richards and his Committee for their splendid generosity, not only for the present function but for the summer outings since 1920.

The wives and friends of the men then arrived to take part in a programme of dancing, and at about 10 p.m., cheers announced the arrival of the Mayor of Brighton, Miss Hardy, and her Mayoress, and the Mayor and Mayoress of Hove. Just after this a lucky draw for twelve prizes—six for men and six for ladies—took place, a very popular winner being Sister Davies of the Brighton Annexe.

The end came all too soon with the singing of the National Anthem, but the men and their lady friends seemed very happy as they made their way to the motor buses lent for the evening by Messrs. Tilling and Southdown.

Triangles

The following is the correct answer to last month's "Triangle."

      Y
    I   N
   R   K
  A     E
 H     E
C A N V A S S

It was purposely made an easy example and thirty-one correct solutions were received. The first two opened were from F. Ralph, of Purley, and A. E. Trigg, of Henlow, Beds, to whom the two prizes of half a guinea each are accordingly awarded.

Here is this month's competition:—

b . . . . . c

- ba=Damp place to sit or rich food to eat. Depends on spelling and pronunciation.
- bc=These suggest that slimming has some connection with joking.
- ac=Good for steel; bad for human beings.

As this example is still a fairly easy one two prizes of half a guinea each will again be awarded. Entries must be addressed to the Editor, "St. Dunstan's Review," Inner Circle, Regent's Park, London, N.W.1, and the envelope marked "Competition." Entries will be received up to the first post on Tuesday, 2nd January. The prizes will be awarded for the two first correct solutions opened.

St. Dunstaners only are eligible for the competition and no correspondence on the matter will be entertained.

Prince of Wales and St. Dunstan's

H.R.H. The Prince of Wales has become the Senior Member of the Old Bill Fraternity, formed to help the sale of goods made by St. Dunstaners.

Musical Notes

C. Thomas won the Bronze Medal and a First Class Certificate in the local class for tenors in the North London Musical Festival on 17th November, although he had not fully recovered from laryngitis. He missed the Silver Medal (first prize) by one mark only.

H. Costigan broadcast a programme of six songs from London National on Saturday, 2nd December (Empire broadcast). The Wireless Correspondent of the Evening Standard wrote on 25th November:

"A bullet-wound made a singer of Harry Costigan, singing with the Military Band on Saturday from National. When going over the top at Ypres in 1917 he was hit by a bullet in the head, and it was thought he would never see again.

"He was sent to St. Dunstan's to receive training as a masseur, and learned that he was to recover the partial sight of one eye. One morning a St. Dunstan's orderly heard him singing at his work, and was so impressed by his voice that he sent him to the music room for an audition.

"This was the first time that Harry had imagined that his voice might be valuable. He received nearly all his training at St. Dunstan's, and while there made what he claims to have been the first broadcast in the country.

"A concert was being given at Cardiff in aid of St. Dunstan's, and the Institution was asked to provide a singer to be sent to Crewe for an experimental transmission to Cardiff Town Hall. Harry went, and was bundled into a railway truck at Crewe, without a piano, without music, without even a tuning fork, and asked to sing into the most primitive microphone ever made.

"The relay was due to begin at 9 o'clock, and at five minutes to the hour the transmitting gear was out of order. At exactly two minutes before the show was due to start, the apparatus was coaxed into working. The audience at Cardiff heard a voice relayed through the ether from Crewe."

The "St. Dunstan's Singers" have sung at a great many concerts this winter, their most important engagement lately being at the large Festival of Remembrance at Slough on 5th November. They had reluctantly to refuse to sing at the Wimbledon Festival on the same night.

St. Dunstaners and the National Egg-Laying Test

TWENTY-FOUR pens of six birds each have been entered in the National Egg-Laying Test. The following are the names of the men whose pens have been entered: R. Ashwell, M. Watson Brown, W. A. Burtenshaw, W. F. Cork, J. Campbell, A. Chaffin, C. T. Condon, C. H. Carpenter, B. Hamilton, P. Holmes, G. C. Jackson, G. James, A. Jarvis, H. A. Knopp, J. H. Lea, D. McLaren, D. Melling, C. Roach, C. H. Stock, W. Alan Smith, W. W. Watson, R. Westwood, W. J. Woodcock, H. Yates.

The results will be published each month in the REVIEW. This month's are as follows, the four leading pens in the St. Dunstan's Section being:

	Pts.
Smith, W. Alan, Mareham-le-Fen ...	151
Jarvis, A., Bordon, Hants... ..	122
Woodcock, W. J., Rickling ... ..	105
Carpenter, E. H., King's Langley ...	103

Mr. J. Thomson Brown adds: "Mr. Alan Smith's pen of White Wyandottes scored most points in the St. Dunstan's section, namely, 151, and tied with the highest score in the whole Test."

"Unfortunately a large number of eggs laid were second grade, and if the size does not improve, I am afraid his birds will quickly drop out of the running."

The following reference to St. Dunstan's appeared in an article by Mr. Percy W. D. Izzard, the Daily Mail Agricultural Correspondent:—

"Twenty-four pens of six birds each have been entered in the St. Dunstan's Section.

"The last-named section is a new feature introduced to assist the blind poultry keepers who were trained and set up in the industry by the St. Dunstan's organization. After training, these blinded soldiers were settled down in different parts of the country, where they are visited periodically by an expert who gives advice where needed.

"St. Dunstan's hatches out these eggs of the men's breeding pens in its own incubators, returns the day-old chicks, and also supplies the men with first-class cockerels to mate up with their pens.

"The entries by these blind poultry keepers have been selected by the St. Dunstan's authorities, and the experts at Milford have told me that the birds are excellent and do great credit to their owners."

Gardening Notes

JANUARY is the month for sowing spring cabbages, savoys, brussels sprouts and early cauliflowers, and leeks in frames, so that you should get your frames ready now.

Put down six inches of new manure, and then three inches of soil on top so that it will settle down ready for use.

Here is an easy way to sow your seeds if you have not got a sighted person to do it. Get a piece of stick about three inches long and a line. Measure the distance with your stick from the side of the frame; put one peg of your line at the end of the stick into the soil and the same at the bottom of your frame, making your line run north and south. Make a drill under the line with your hand about an inch deep, get your packet of seed in one hand and keeping against your line with it, sow your seed very thinly with your other hand, and place some fine soil on top.

Get your three-inch stick again and measure from your peg for another line; remove your peg to the end of the stick and do the same with the other so that it makes your rows three inches apart and gives you a better chance to weed among your rows. Be sure and put a piece of stick at the end of each drill to give you an idea where the plants are because you are apt to pull plants out with weeds if you don't. After sowing your seeds give them a good watering.

D. MAKIN.

Gloucester Reunion

15TH NOVEMBER.

THE REVEREND P. B. CLAYTON ("Tubby," of Toc H), joined our very happy gathering after tea. He got "atmosphere" at once, as he declined to make a speech, and just went round, talking to each man, reviving old memories, and discovering connections with other workers, past and present, at home and abroad. He was particularly interested to hear that a number of St. Dunstan's men were members of Toc H, and also that in different parts of the country members of Toc H were acting as companion-escorts to St. Dunstaners on their walks abroad.

W. H. O.

Telephonists' Dinner

The following appeared in the Daily Telegraph on 25th November:—

"More than seventy telephonists and shorthand-typists blinded by war injuries met at dinner at St. Dunstan's headquarters in Regent's Park last night. This reunion takes place annually. Capt. Ian Fraser, M.P., Chairman of St. Dunstan's, presided.

"Altogether there are now nearly 100 blinded ex-Service men in positions as telephone operators throughout the country. Some of them are in public departments, but the majority are operating the private telephone exchanges of leading business firms. In spite of difficult times several new cases have been placed this year.

"The managing directors of nearly all the firms concerned make it clear that the appointments are made because blind operators are best at this work. Blind men can hear better, have learned to have more patience and tact, make fewer mistakes, and cannot be imposed on by people ringing up under false names."

Chess

P. T. MASKELL, of Rochester, welcomes the suggestion put forward by G. J. Wheeler in last month's Review that a Chess League should be formed among St. Dunstaners. He writes: "Out of two thousand members, it will be a pity if we cannot get at least twelve who would be interested enough to form some sort of league or team. If we should get enough men to play, I suggest we have correspondence games through the year, and perhaps one day during the year we meet over the boards at Headquarters or any place that may be convenient."

T. H. Tuxford, of Redditch, writes that he is willing to play any St. Dunstaner—good player or not so good—at any type of game, i.e. by post or over the board.

Deaths

We extend our deep sympathy this month to the following:—

CRANE.—To H. Crane, of Croydon, whose mother passed away on 9th November.

FOSTER.—To A. Foster, of Clougher, Co. Tyrone, Ireland, who lost his mother early in November. Foster was in training at King's Langley when he was urgently recalled home on account of his mother's illness.

WRIGHT.—To S. Wright, of Wilsden, and his wife, who have suffered a double bereavement by the death of Wright's own sister and Mrs. Wright's mother. On returning from the funeral of one, they heard the sad news of the death of the other.

SPORTS CLUB NOTES

9-Mile Open Handicap Walk

27TH JANUARY.

THE Nine-Mile Outer Circle Walk is being held on Saturday, 27th January, starting at 2.30 p.m. Will all entries reach me please not later than 15th January. L. WOOLRYCH.

5-Mile Walk

2ND DECEMBER, 1933.

THE first race of the season was held at Headquarters on Saturday, 2nd December, the distance being five miles with the last three laps round the Inner Circle. In spite of the bitterly cold weather, an enthusiastic band of supporters accompanied Captain and Mrs. Fraser to the starting point to give the competitors a good send-off.

In Section B at 1 mile, Robinson led from Kerr, Boorman, Parke, Thompson, Birchall, McFarlane, Rhodes, Lacey and Mawford.

It was interesting to see several who had entered but who were not competing owing to indisposition, watching points round the course and perhaps weighing up form for a future occasion.

Robinson was setting a rare pace at about three miles with Kerr close up, followed by Boorman. Paddy Parke was going well in his first race. Nearing the end, Kerr took the lead and eventually won an exciting race by three seconds from Robinson with Boorman third.

In Section A, Archie Brown took the lead at the start and won in the very good time of 42:50. Percy Ashton and Gover had their usual struggle, changing positions several times. Eventually Ashton had to retire, Gover finishing second with Syd Dyer (very much improved) third. W. Clampett was fourth.

The Handicap winners were:—

Section B	W. Robinson, 1st.
	W. Birchall, 2nd.
	J. McFarlane, 3rd.
Section A	S. Dyer, 1st.
	H. Gover and W. Clampett tied for 2nd place.
	Novice's Prize Paddy Parke.

After a telegram of good wishes from Sister Nelson had been read and Mr. Donoghue had given out the times, Miss Hamar Greenwood thanked the officials and escorts and said it was at all times a great pleasure for her to be with St. Dunstan's sportsmen. Then came the presentation of prizes, Mr. S. Parsons again generously giving an additional prize.

H. Kerr, on behalf of the competitors, thanked Miss Greenwood for all her kindnesses, and Miss Davies who, with her helpers, always provides such a splendid tea. (The recipe for their sandwiches is in great demand!) Kerr added in conclusion that instead of feeling older, thanks to walking he felt in the twenties, and hoped that the sport would be carried on for many a long year yet.

So ended a very enjoyable and successful race. W. TOVELL.

Silver Wedding

Congratulations to S. W. Williams, of Bootle, and his wife, who celebrated their silver wedding on 22nd November.

BIRMINGHAM

THE Annual Meeting was held at Queen's College, 15th November, Mr. Cooling taking the chair. For the Christmas Party to be held at Queen's College in January, it was decided to have tea followed by a Christmas tree for the children, and to invite some ex-service men in whom Mr. Alexander was interested.

Mr. Murphy had written most kindly offering to have the Annual Walk again from the Farcroft Hotel, on Saturday, 7th April. There was a strong feeling among the Walk officials that the time had come to shorten the distance to ten miles. This was put to the Meeting and met with general approval.

A. HODGSON.

BRIGHTON

A MEETING of the Sports Club was held in the Netting Room at the Annexe on 21st November, at 6 p.m.

Present.—Mrs. Broughton, Mrs. Hardy, Miss Wildie, Miss Rayson, Orderly Passival. St. Dunstan's Members: Messrs. Martin, Vorley, Clewlow, Dickenson, Ganaway, Newman, Scott, Markwick, Pyke, Thompson, Freeman, Higgins, Triggs, Taylor, Mitchell, Jacklin, Van Niekerk, Bullock and Wass.

Martin and Vorley picked teams which competed in Quoits, Holey Bogey and Shove Penny.

Quoits.—Martin's team, 565; Vorley's team, 555. Highest individual score, Freeman, 65; Triggs, 55.

Holey Bogey.—Vorley's team, 1170; highest score, Mitchell, 200. Martin's team, 710; highest score, Higgins, 160.

Shove Penny.—Martin's team, 80; highest score, Pyke, 15. Vorley's team, 65; highest score, Freeman (playing for Van Niekerk), 25.

After tea, kindly arranged by Miss Wildie, Matron came to give the prizes for the Summer Sports.

SECTION B.	SECTION A.
1st, Dickenson.	1st, Martin.
2nd, Wass.	2nd, Triggs.
3rd, Scott.	3rd, Pyke.

After welcoming everyone and thanking all the helpers Matron told the men there would be no meeting in December, but that she hoped to see everyone at the Christmas Party and suggested that the next sports meeting should be on Tuesday, 16th January, 1934, at the same time. There being no opposition, this date was fixed.

A. K. RAYSON.

GENERAL MEETING.

AT the General Meeting held in the Netting Room on 21st October, the members decided that they would like to hold monthly meetings during the winter, if the plan was agreeable to Matron. It was also proposed to ask if a walk could be held in Brighton. This proposal having been sanctioned, a five-mile Walk will be arranged in March, open to all members of the Brighton and District Club.

It was with much regret that the members heard of the resignation of Miss Stacey from the post of Hon. Secretary. Miss Rayson kindly offered to be Joint Hon. Secretary with Miss Hodgson. Miss Wildey's offer of continued help with preparing the tea was greatly appreciated, as was Orderly Passival's offer of help with competitions.

The account of the November Meeting which appears above shows that the winter season started well with a good attendance. Let's hope in January we shall have an even larger party.

A. HODGSON.
